VOL. XVI—NO. 51.

PORTLAND, OREGON: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1876.

PRICE—TEN CENTS.

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Miners for the Black Hills.

[illegible], Pa., March 28.—Forty miners left for the Black Hills yesterday. They were escorted to the depot by a brass band [illegible] about 2,000 men, women and children. [illegible] were provided with arms and mining implements and were [illegible].

Wreck of the Great Western.

New York, March 28.—The steamship [illegible] which went ashore on the Long Island [illegible] Saturday night, parted amidships and will be a [illegible]. Her crew have arrived.

Explosion and Loss of Life.

[illegible], March 28.—To-day the boiler [illegible] attached to the construction train of [illegible] and southern railroad exploded. Five [illegible] outright and nine badly injured.

Heavy Snow Storm.

New York, March 28.—After a long rain [illegible] yesterday the heaviest snow storm of the season [illegible] last night. Up to the present time [illegible] thirty inches of snow has fallen. The [illegible] are in a horribly slushy state. Street car and other travel is much impeded.

[illegible], March 28.—The worst snow storm [illegible] with a furious northwesterly gale com[illegible] early this morning and at 1 P. M. still pre[illegible] no signs of abatement. Six inches [illegible] already fallen and is badly drifted. The [thermo]meter shows 33 degrees.

Investigation of Boston Navy Yard Concluded.

[illegible], March 28.—The congressional sub-committee [illegible] investigation of alleged navy yard frauds in this [city] finished their labors last evening and leave for Washington. The committee accumu[lated] a mass of documentary and other testimony.

Charges against Gen. Butterfield.

[The] Post publishes an interview with Gen. Kil[illegible] in which he denies he left Washington to [avoid] testifying before the investigation committee [illegible] is ready to swear Gen. Butterfield [illegible] $10,000 to assist him (Butterfield) in securing [the] New York collectorship, and that he can bring [illegible] witnesses who saw the offer in writing.

Freshets in New England.

[illegible], March 28.—It is now thought the destruc[tion] caused by the freshets in Worcester county [illegible] to $3,000,000, while there is reason to [believe] that thirty lives have been lost and two in [illegible] and one in Webster.

Charges against Treasury Agent Lydecker.

New York, March 28.—The Evening [illegible] says the treasury department has for several weeks been making an investigation of the charges preferred against special deputy collector John R. Lydecker, [for] many years one of the best known officers of the custom house service. It is charged that Lydecker [illegible] serious irregularities in order to show [favors] to his personal and political friends. [It is] understood that serious charges against sev[eral] well known officers of the appraiser's depart[ment] are also under investigation.

Money and Stocks.

New York, March 28.—Gold closed at 14. Money [illegible]; governments active and steady, except currency bonds which are lower; stocks active and [illegible] [illegible] 67, [illegible] 68, Quicksilver, 17½, Pacific [illegible] [illegible], Mariposa, 8½, Wells Fargo, 85, N. Y. [illegible] 113, Erie, 19⅞, Panama, 130; U. P. 62, do [illegible] 103⅛, C. P. bonds, 107¼.

Pronounces It False.

[illegible], March 28.—J. O. A. Sargent, of Manchester, contradicts the published report that he paid Secretary Belknap $12,000 to obtain contracts, [and] pronounces the story unqualifiedly false.

Vessel Wrecked.

New Orleans, March 28.—Capt. Wilds, of the [illegible], 800 tons, from Liverpool in ballast [for] Pensacola, arrived here to-day, and reports a [vessel] wrecked off Chandler Island on March 18th. [illegible] crew, and three men were drowned; [the] others escaped to the island and the vessel [went] to pieces during the storm of Sunday, the 19th.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

Washington, March 28.—Edmunds called up the [bill] to relieve E. J. Sheldon, of Mississippi, of political disabilities imposed by the 14th amendment to [the] Constitution.

[illegible], of Pennsylvania, moved to amend by inserting the name of Joseph Johnstone, of Georgia, [illegible] pardon just as much as any [illegible].

[illegible] the Senator from Penn[sylvania] was not conversant with the method adopted [by] the committee in granting this relief. The com[mittee] insisted upon it that the person should make [illegible] pardon, and if the committee found [illegible] had behaved himself [illegible] the act, they considered the matter. He [illegible] to withdraw his amendment and [illegible] Johnstone should make application for par[don], [illegible] might be taken up. The amendment was [illegible].

[illegible] moved to amend by inserting the name of [illegible], of Baltimore.

[illegible] said that this name was open to the [same] objection as to the other.

[illegible] said the gentleman had made application [for] relief, and the committee had as yet [made] no report on it.

[illegible] said the application was before the [committee on] judiciary and it would stay there [till] the committee got ready to take it up [illegible] and they would not take it up out of its [order]. When they reached it in order of business [they] would consider the case. The question was [put], amendment lost and the bill passed.

[illegible] called up senate bill No. 13, [illegible] the 5th section of the act to establish the [judicial] courts of the United States approved Sept. [illegible]

[illegible], but the morning hour expiring [it] went over, and the chair laid before the [Senate the] consular and diplomatic bill as the reg[ular order].

The Senate proceeded to consider the bill, the [question] recurring on restoring Italy which was [struck] out by the House on a [illegible] and yea vote [illegible] restored. The amendment on restoring sev[eral] posts which had been stricken out by the [House was] taken up.

[illegible] explained that in all these amendments [illegible] were only conforming to the exist[ing law].

[illegible] Hamlin urged the necessity of con[forming] to the existing law and spoke against the [illegible] of engrafting new laws upon ap[propriation] bills, pending which the Senate went [into] executive session and soon after adjourned.

House.

[illegible] introduced a bill to permit the importation [illegible] of books printed in any foreign lan[guage]. [illegible]

[illegible] offered a resolution directing the judici[ary committee] to inquire into the expediency of [illegible] the use of the U. S. mails in carrying [illegible] advertisements; adopted.

[illegible] laid before the House two commu[nications] from the district attorney of the District, [illegible] informing the House that the grand [jury] had found an indictment against Kilbourn [illegible] in the real estate pool investiga[tion] [illegible] counts, and another from Thompson, [illegible]-arms, informing the House that the [marshal] of the District of Columbia had come to [him] and requested that Kilbourn be given [up] [illegible] which he (Thompson) refused to do [until] further instructions from the House.

[illegible] offered a resolution instructing the ser[geant-at]-arms of the House not to deliver Kilbourn [to] any officer of any court or any tribunal until fur[ther] order of the House; adopted.

[illegible], of Indiana, defended the action of the House [in] the case of the prisoner Kilbourn. He said the [illegible] of Congress was as great in that respect as [any] court.

[The] question whether the recusant witness should [be surren]dered to the judicial authorities of the [District] to be tried under the indictment found [against] him for refusing to testify was discussed at [consider]able length.

[illegible] contended that the penalty provided [illegible] statutes was additional punishment [illegible]. The right to inflict punishment [illegible] in each house and its authority [illegible] after the adjournment of Congress.

[illegible] contended that whereas Congress had pro[vided a] certain mode of punishing a recusant [witness], each house was thereby divested of its [origin]al power to inflict punishment for cont[empt].

[illegible] chairman of the select committee on the [illegible] pool offered a resolution ordering [illegible] sergeant-at-arms to retain Kilbourn in custody and [not] deliver him to any other officer of any [court] until the further order of the House.

[illegible] offered as a substitute a resolution [illegible] the sergeant-at-arms to deliver Kilbourn [to the] marshal of the District of Columbia for [illegible]

After considerable discussion the House [illegible] a vote on the substitute offered by Hurlbut [illegible] rejected; yeas 2, nays 152.

[The] resolution was adopted without [illegible]

[illegible] from the conference committee [illegible] supply the deficiency at Rock Island [illegible] made a report that the House [illegible] the Senate amendment [illegible] from $100,000 to $150,000. [illegible]

The House then took up the bill [illegible] regulations on commerce to amend [illegible] regulation of steam vessels and [illegible] [illegible] the bill was made by Reagan. The bill went [over] until Saturday next.

[The House] adjourned the evening session [illegible] with on account of inclemency of weather.

District of Columbia Republican Convention.

[The] district convention to-day to elect delegates to [the] National Republican Convention at Cincinnati was one controlled to some extent by opposition elements, but in the opinion of the majority of the convention did not represent the Republican voters of this district. The result was the withdrawal of a majority of Republican delegates, and that [a] convention will be held soon at which delegates [to] the Cincinnati convention will be elected to contest the seats of Sayles J. Bowen and A. M. Green, who were elected [by] to-day's convention.

Investigation of Indian Affairs.

The sub-committee on Indian affairs, consisting of Representatives Wilshire, [illegible] and Boone, [illegible] examined [illegible] and [illegible] Chippewa, who testified that [illegible] Smith, while acting [illegible] before he became Commissioner of Indian affairs, purchased the scrip of the half-breed Indians and paid for it in greenbacks furnished by the government, acting as agent of the firm of Long & Fletcher of Audubon, who resided on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, who were using the scrip for the purpose of buying valuable pine lands in their section of country. While acting as commissioner Smith sent out a Miss Cook as his clerk to obtain vouchers for the purpose of settling [illegible] Indian agent. Miss Cook in order to obtain such vouchers attended the councils of the Indians and obtained them by false representations.

Spencer Investigating Committee.

The Spencer investigation continued to-day, but no important testimony was given.

The House committee on appropriations agreed to report a bill to appropriate $40,000 to defray the expenses of the reception and appraisement of foreign goods shipped for the exhibition at the Centennial Exposition.

Argument in Favor of the Cascades Canal and Locks.

Washington, March 28.—Senator Mitchell made an argument before the House committee on commerce urging an appropriation for the [illegible] of canal and locks at the Cascades of the Columbia river.

Surveyor General Simpson left for Portland to-day.

Railway to the Black Hills and Portland.

A bill was introduced by Senator Wright to-day which proposes to give to the Covington, Columbia and Black Hills Railroad Company of Nebraska, a national charter, under the name of the Sioux City, Black Hills and Pacific Railroad, with right of way and authority to construct and maintain a railroad from Sioux City through Nebraska, Dakota, Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon to the city of Portland, all to be completed within fifteen years.

Confirmations by the Senate.

Washington, March 28.—The Senate confirmed John M. Coghlan, of California, as chief justice of the supreme court of Utah; W. C. Fox, of Missouri, as U. S. consul at Brunswick, Germany.

No Action by the Senate on the Nomination of Dana.

The Senate was in executive session three hours to-day on the nomination of Dana. No action was taken.

Decision in the Kentucky Election Case.

Washington, March 28.—Chief Justice Waite delivered the opinion of the supreme court in the Kentucky election case. It is very lengthy. The United States abandons the first and third counts and waives the consideration of claims not arising out of the enforcement of the fifteenth amendment. The opinion says Congress cannot enforce a penalty for the refusal to receive votes except when the vote is refused on account of race or color. After discoursing on the necessity that the statutes should be explicit, having no double meaning, in order that there may be no misconstruction on the part of either register or [illegible], he says that the whole statute, with all its sections, should be read in order to get a comprehensive view of the true intent of the law. The language of the [illegible] and [illegible] sections does not, in the opinion of the court, confine their operation to unlawful discriminations on account of race and color. If Congress had the power to provide generally for the punishment of those who unlawfully interfere to prevent the exercise of the elective franchise without regard to such discriminations, the language of these sections would be broad enough for that purpose. It remains to consider whether a statute so general as this in its provisions can be made available for the punishment of those who may be guilty of unlawful discrimination against citizens of the United States while exercising the elective franchise on account of race, etc. These sections do not provide for such offenses. If the case is provided for at all, it is [illegible] under the general prohibition against any wrongful act or unlawful obstruction. In this particular the sections cannot be disregarded, even though it is claimed that some of them [illegible] they are all valid and must be [illegible] by the State courts. Congress is supreme [illegible] and beyond the control of courts, but if it steps outside of its constitutional limitations [illegible] that which is beyond its reach, then the courts are authorized [illegible] when called upon in due course of legal proceedings, must annul its encroachments upon the reserved power of States and people. To limit this statute in the manner now asked for would be to make a new law, not to enforce an old one. This is no part of our duty. We must therefore decide that Congress has not yet provided by appropriate legislation for the punishment of the offence charged in the indictment, and that the circuit court properly sustained demurrers and gave judgment for the defendants.

Therefore the judgment of the circuit court is affirmed. Mr. Justice Hunt and Mr. Justice Clifford dissented from the opinion but concurred in the judgment.

The San Jose Land Title Bill.

Washington, March 27.—The bill introduced by Sargent to-day proposes simply to confirm to the city of San Jose by legislative enactment all the United States title to the lands confirmed to that city by the supreme court in 1866.

Salem Postmaster.

The change of postmaster at Salem, Oregon, was made at the instance of the Post Office Department on account of the reported violation of its regulations as to the manner of [illegible], and Senator Mitchell was requested to nominate a successor immediately.

EMMA MINE INVESTIGATION.

Minister Schenck before the Committee.

Washington, March 28.—Minister Schenck ap[peared] [illegible]

[illegible] Baxter and Stewart [illegible] Minister [illegible] knowingly lent the [illegible] official position as [illegible]

[illegible] was of little value and the sale of it was fraudulent, and this evidence [illegible] that after the most [illegible] for some of them purchased largely of stock at high prices and also loaned the company large sums of money; that the subsequent failure of the mine was owing to the mismanagement in its working; that the mine to-day, if properly worked, in all probability is as valuable as it was supposed to have been [illegible] England who were concerned in the original purchase [illegible] claimed that any fraud or imposition was practiced upon them, that claim having been recently set up by those who have bought stock [illegible] failure of the mine [illegible]. It will be apparent to the committee that [illegible] this interrogation of a considerable number of witnesses, that the evidence cannot be presented except through the means universally employed in judicial tribunals. The examination of witnesses by competent counsel acquainted with the [illegible] subject, of course [illegible] further questions as any member of the committee may wish to put; that to conduct the inquiry by calling upon witnesses to examine themselves, or by such desultory and imperfect examination as must be made by a committee not informed of the facts, would be extremely unjust to any party who relies upon the testimony, and would tend to obscure the truth rather than to elicit it. I have therefore to respectfully request of the committee that the [illegible] privilege of assistance of proper counsel may be accorded, as well as for the cross-examination of witnesses who have testified against me, as for the examination of those whom I desire to produce. Should the committee be pleased to [accede] to my request, as I cannot doubt they will, I will be ready to proceed with the cross-examination of witnesses or my own statement, as the committee may think most desirable. I am, gentlemen, very respectfully, Robert C. Schenck.

Mr. Faulkner said that Schenck was mistaken. It was the intention of the committee to invite him to appear before the committee.

Swann also remarked that the committee would give Schenck every facility with the aid of counsel.

Schenck then gave a circumstantial account of his connection with the Emma mine. After a few preliminary remarks Schenck said that in October, 1871, he met at Edward's Hotel, London, ex-Senator Stewart and Mr. Park. It was at the table of Wm. M. Evarts, of New York—he was not sure whether it was at the table or at a subsequent interview. Stewart said something about his purposes and informed him he and Park were interested in the property of the Emma mine and were desirous of putting the stock on the English market, and they were then engaged in negotiations. In making this communication to him, either at the dinner table or afterwards, his attention was directed to what Stewart called the Little Cottonwood canyon in Utah. He represented that when at the land office in Washington, just before he left the United States for London, calling there for the purpose of effecting the promotion of a clerk, the Commissioner exhibited some rich silver ore found in Little Cottonwood canyon. Reverting to his sojourn in London and to his having there met Park for the first time, and after hearing of the object of the visit of Stewart and Park and their conversation as to the value of the property, the suggestion was first made by Stewart to Schenck that the latter ought to become interested in this valuable property, the finest yet brought out. Schenck answered he had no means to invest, and if he had he would not go into the matter unless he could considerably add to his income by taking a considerable number of shares. Those led to a conversation which increased his interest in the subject. He consented to look into the matter to see whether it was worth his while to invest, provided he could obtain the means. He thought Stewart was exceedingly anxious he should have an opportunity to profit in the business. He told Schenck that Park would assist him and would give him time if he would take five hundred shares or make an investment of some degree of importance. Schenck wished to know the value of the property. They gave him diagrams of the mine and showed him statements of working operations, sales of ore at London, Liverpool and Swansea, and their balances in bank. They also told him they had a report on the mine from Prof. Silliman showing the value of the mine. A day or two after this conversation they showed him Silliman's report, and Schenck finally made up his mind to invest in the mine if Park would let him have money [illegible] time, say four years. Park having [illegible] this matter was settled between Park and himself about the 1st of November, when the agreement was reduced to writing and executed. It was utterly false that the agreement was written or executed at any time prior to the date it bore. Schenck then exhibited the agreement for 500 shares, Park promising to give Schenck two per cent a month on the shares while they should be held by him, or take them back at par. [illegible] at Park's request Schenck agreed to a reduction to one and a half per cent. Schenck [illegible] his note to Park for £10,000 for 18 months. Schenck and the other stockholders received one and a half per cent a month. At the time he made this agreement there had been no organization of the company. At the time of its execution there was no suggestion whatever that he should have anything to do with the management of the company. Afterwards, however, Park and Stewart thought Schenck ought to be one of the managers or directors of the proposed company. Schenck dissented from this, but it was urged that they wanted somebody sojourning in London to protect their interests. This seemed to be a plausible reason, but he still objected, saying he [illegible] the propriety of his [illegible] anything to do with the management while there in a representative capacity unless he could be satisfied there were [illegible]. If this should be done, another condition would have to be complied with: he must know the names of all the directors, as he had thus far heard the name of only one person who had been asked or agreed to become a director. On the 11th of November the names of such persons were furnished him. He was not acquainted with any of them, but he learned there were among the number members of Parliament and other gentlemen of high position. The precedent of a foreign minister holding office in a joint stock company was found in the minister [illegible], one of the oldest and most respected members of the diplomatic corps, who was president of a tramway company [illegible], the stock of which was being put on the London market. Schenck had nothing to do with the preparation of the prospectus of the Emma Mine [illegible]. Schenck said when he went into the business [illegible] there was such a [illegible] as Albert Grant, not being acquainted in stock or financial circles. Schenck attended only two meetings of the board, on the 9th and 10th, having resigned in December. He never went near the board of directors or company again. He took no part in the management except by giving a proxy to vote. [illegible] He states how he and [illegible] shares in the open market at thirty [illegible] a share, and arranged with Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co. to carry that stock, putting up as margin 2,000 pounds [illegible]

Inter-University Boat Race.

London, March 28.—The inter-university boat race is six to four in favor of Oxford.

Stock and Exchange Market.

There is little doing on the Stock Exchange [illegible] fortnightly settlement [illegible] and the rate for the continuation of foreign bonds settlement are rather [illegible]. No failure has been announced thus far, but the stoppage of an outside speculator is reported, with considerable liabilities. It is not probable that a settlement will be completed without trouble, but no important suspensions are anticipated.

Bullion in Bank of England.

The amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance to-day is £110,000.

Shipwreck and Loss of Life.

Advices received to-day from India report that the steamship [illegible] had been wrecked in the Arabian sea. She had on board about [illegible] pilgrims, chiefly Persians, bound to [illegible]. Three men, supposed to be the only survivors, reached Hodeida.

A Councillor Resigns.

London, March 28.—The Times' special from Berlin states that Councillor Von Novikoff, who has been Ambassador of Russia at Vienna since 1870, has resigned in consequence of a misunderstanding with Count Andrassy, the Austrian premier.

The Pope on Spain.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says the Pope's brief addressed to the Archbishop of Toledo denounces the liberty of worship in Spain as [illegible] the state with a great crime and paving the way to the persecution of Catholics.

Italian Prefects Resigned.

Rome, March 28.—The prefects of Rome, Milan, Turin, Palermo and Naples have resigned, objecting to serve under the party of the left.

Art Suit.

Florence, March 28.—The suit brought against Larkin G. Mead, the American sculptor, by a firm [of] merchants concerning the Lincoln monument, which was originally decided in favor of the defendant and subsequently appealed, has again resulted in a complete victory for Mead.

Annual Meeting of the Direct Cable Co.

London, March 28.—The annual meeting of the direct U. S. cable company was held at noon to-day and passed off satisfactorily. The policy of the directors in maintaining an independent organization was sustained.

French Chamber of Deputies.

Versailles, March 28.—In the Chamber of Deputies the election of M. [illegible], Bonapartist, was annulled by a vote of 258 to 160.

M. [illegible], Radical, introduced a bill authorizing a special grant of $80,000 to meet the expense of sending workmen to the Philadelphia Exposition.

Servia Peaceably Inclined.

Vienna, March 28.—The political correspondence and newspapers report that the Servian Minister of Foreign Affairs has just issued the following official declaration to Prince Wrede, diplomatic agent of Austria at Belgrade: The Servian Government has no intention whatever of attacking Turkey, or of impeding the work of pacification undertaken by the great Powers, a course which might subject Servia to collective proceedings on the part of the great Powers. Servia's military preparations are merely due to the completion of her military organization.

Peace Mission a Failure.

It is stated that the mission of Petronic, the Montenegrin Foreign Minister, to Gratovia, to induce the insurgents to stop fighting and to prevent foreigners from joining them, has failed.

The Imperial Revenue.

Berlin, March 28.—The Reichsanzeiger announces that the imperial revenue for the year 1875 falls 6,800,000 short of what was anticipated. The savings effected, however, exceeded.

English Shipping Bill.

London, March 28.—In the House of Commons Plimsoll moved an amendment to the merchant shipping bill providing that every British vessel before sailing from a port of the United Kingdom must have a certificate of her worthiness. The government opposed the amendment on the ground that it lessened the responsibility of shipowners. Rejected.

Oregon Grain Ship Arrived at Liverpool.

Liverpool, March 27.—The ship [illegible] arrived at Liverpool from Astoria.

MORMON PRIESTS

Salem, March [illegible], 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Last week I met a couple Mormon priests here. They appeared pleasant and delighted with the prospects of successful missionary labor in this State. They say we send men with two wives to the United States Senate and are not particular as to a man's financial antecedents, nor his name. Yours truly,

SQUIB.

Bruneau valley, Idaho, is a section of which but little has been known heretofore. A correspondent of the Boise Statesman says: "Bruneau valley has never been regarded by the settlers as a paying farming locality, simply because it is too far from market, but as a winter range for stock it has proved itself the best in this portion of Idaho, and I think I would be safe in saying the best in the Territory. Miller & Walter are the largest stock owners in the valley. They have between 4,000 and 5,000 head of cattle. The Robersons have the king of all the ranches in Owyhee or any other county. They have at this time (March 16th) vegetables growing out in the open ground almost large enough to eat. They have set out an abundance of fruit trees of various kinds, and in a few years will have plenty of fruit for home use and to sell. On their land they have numerous hot springs, in the immediate vicinity of which it never freezes, the vegetation being always green."

A gentleman observed an urchin who had a large slice of bread in his hand and who was crying very bitterly. "My son," he exclaimed, "what are you crying about?" "Mother won't—boo-hoo-oo—put any butter on my bread—boo-hoo-oo." "Oh, is that all," said the gentleman; "come, dry up your tears and be a man." "It ain't so much the butter [illegible]," the little urchin, "it's the [illegible] position of the old woman."

"Ain't it pretty?" said Mrs. H., holding up her new bonnet. "There's something charming in it that I can't tell you." "Glad of it," said John. "It's just as well to have brass somewhere about your head, you know"—and he paused to [illegible] a hair brush on the fly.

The "Crooked."

San Francisco, March 28.—As an argument establishing the fact of the existence of the whisky ring and the late extensive manufacture of the "crooked" on this coast, it is stated that wholesale dealers who previously supplied their stocks from local sources are now purchasing largely from Eastern distilleries. It is said there has been no increase in demand and the registered product of the home distilleries is the same as before, the deficiency being attributed to the fact that the recent investigation and prosecutions have stopped for the time being the illicit manufacture here, while the Eastern article is brought in to supply the trade.

McKee & Co. Close Business.

San Francisco, March 28.—Samuel McKee & Co., dealers in puts and calls, closed business to-day. The firm was on the point of failure yesterday, but the drop in Yellow Jacket saved it for the time. The rise in Chollar to-day cleared them out. A small boy put a card in the window reading "Suspended business," and McKee & Co. closed office. Nothing has been learned of the assets or liabilities of McKee, the clerks being invisible. The firm continued selling calls up to within a few minutes of closing the doors.

Anti-Chinese Mass Meeting.

It has been definitely arranged that an anti-Chinese mass meeting shall be held in Union Hall next Saturday evening. Outside stands will be provided and every arrangement made to give suitable voice to the popular sentiment on the Chinese question. The committee on Chinese immigration, recently appointed by the board of supervisors, have published an appeal to the public of the Pacific coast for an expression of their feelings on the question of the hour.

Terrible Tragedy.

Mendocino, March 28.—A terrible tragedy occurred in a house of ill fame at 9:30 o'clock last night, which resulted in the death of one of the inmates named Lena Mitchell and a man from San Francisco named Frank Mitchell. Both were shot and killed by Harry Klenschmidt. The report is that Mitchell made a motion as if to draw a pistol when Klenschmidt shot, but at the same time the girl stepped in between them and received the contents of Klenschmidt's pistol in the breast, killing her instantly. Klenschmidt shot a second time, the ball entering the abdomen of Frank Mitchell, from the effects of which he died in a short time. Klenschmidt is under arrest.

There are 206 scholars in the Jacksonville public schools.

Three hundred head of fat mutton sheep were sold at Pendleton the other day for the Victoria market, at $4 per head.

The Jefferson brass band last Saturday [illegible] out in public for the first time and paraded the streets of that city to the delight of the inhabitants thereof generally and the small children in particular.

The Umatilla river was on a regular bender last week. It was higher than for years. Two feet more of raise would have overflowed its banks, and three feet would have endangered, if it would not have carried off, the bridge at Pendleton.

A gentleman named Joseph Chandler, while working on a building at Salem Monday, was by some means thrown from the scaffolding on which he was walking, fell to the sidewalk, and striking his leg broke it between the knee and ankle joint.

An examination of the jewelry worn by Maxon and Berry in jail at Pendleton on a charge of mail robbery showed that the bolt which held Maxon's shackle to the leg was found to be entirely sawed off, while Berry's was sawed nearly two-thirds through. The services of a blacksmith were called into requisition, the bolts case hardened, and the men chained to the floor for safety.

A man named Thomas Knoll, who was at work for Mr. J. Harritt, of Polk county, went to labor as usual last Monday morning, and after having worked about an hour he was seen sitting in an unnatural position, which attracted the attention of Mr. Harritt, and upon investigation he was found in an unconscious state. When he was carried to the house and a physician sent for, but he lived only a short time. It is thought apoplexy was the cause of his death.

Mary Hale, aged about fifteen years, daughter of Mr. Milton Hale, living near Albany, died at 5 o'clock Monday morning. She was taken ill the previous evening about dark by going into a convulsion, and up to the moment of her death, as fast as she became relieved of one spasm she would fall into another more violent than the previous one, until her vital energies gave way after about twelve hours of untold suffering, when she passed from life to death. The supposed cause originated in a fall from a porch several years since.

OUR PHILADELPHIA LETTER

[illegible] FROM THE CENTENNIAL CITY

Philadelphia, March 12, 1876.

During the few weeks last past the Centennial city has had little to disturb its [illegible] [illegible] the newspaper [illegible] [illegible] has been quitted by that famous [illegible] [illegible] feeling with painful interest what [illegible] the [illegible] of the Belknap exposé, and who [illegible] next [illegible]. Here at least with the [illegible] we have no scandal of national interest, though some of the profits of post traderships seem to have been shared by certain thrifty Philadelphians, and we still have some of the old [illegible] among us who won't respond to the call of the Times to step down and out, or to [illegible] their grip on the city treasury. Still two or three little events of absorbing interest in certain circles have taken place that may be worthy of going upon record as having caused at least a little ripple upon the surface. A few days ago two of the dental colleges of the city held their commencement exercises, while the world looked on with bated breath and heard the professors, in giving the graduates their parting benediction, tell how materially their graduation was to tell upon the destiny of mankind, and of what timely assistance they were to render even old Atlas himself in sharing his weighty burden. They indulged in the same identical commencement bosh that is heard every year in schools, whether of law, physic, theology or general literature, and everywhere from Harvard and Yale down to the Podunk Academy of Belles Lettres. Of the eleven dental colleges in the United States which have followed in the wake of the Baltimore college, which made its début in 1839 with three graduates, perhaps the Philadelphia Dental College, with its faculty of eight members, its twelve clinical instructors, and its attendance of over one hundred students, takes the lead. It has now been in successful operation for thirteen years and has numbered among its graduates men from almost every State in the Union, every civilized nation of Europe and South America, and from China and Japan. The disciples of dentistry claim for it the dignity of a profession, and this claim being accorded, we can but wish this institution the success to which the efforts of its founders have entitled it. Their closing exercises were followed during Friday and Saturday of last week by those of two of the leading medical schools of the country, that of the

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

And Jefferson College, two occasions which are united in some measure for the anxious looks of the pale and trembling students who have for the past two weeks haunted the portals of the two institutions respectively. Their nervousness was unnatural, and they were pale not so much from having paid a too conscientious devotion to their books, as from the apprehensions they felt that they might be thrown on the final examinations and fail of receiving their coveted diplomas. Of these two deservedly famous medical schools, standing in the front rank, with a following of eighty or more of various grades all over the country, that of the University takes precedence in point of age, having been founded in 1765, the first on the continent, by Drs. Morgan and Shippen, with the powerful aid of Benjamin Franklin, and having numbered among its earliest instructors Dr. Benjamin Rush. It was followed within three years by the Columbia, and twenty years after by the Harvard Medical School. The literary department of the University graduated its first class of seven in 1757, and within the next five or six years had an attendance of about 400 students, gathered from various regions. An old building standing on the corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets, where now are cast the shadows of the Continental and Girard, Philadelphia's two largest and most fashionable hotels, and which it was expected would be occupied by the President as a residence when Philadelphia should become the national capital, was taken by the University in 1800 and occupied till 1872, when they removed to their magnificent buildings in West Philadelphia, beyond the Schuylkill, leaving their old grounds as the site for the new city postoffice now in process of erection. The building now occupied by their medical department is larger and more commodious and elegant than any building devoted to a similar purpose in America. Its lecture and dissecting rooms, museum and cabinet, chemical and medical apparatus and extensive library make it in all its various appointments one of the most complete institutions of its kind anywhere. On Friday last at the Academy of Music, out of 414 matriculates, it sent out 124 graduates with music and flowers and fairly worded farewells, on their missions of mercy and destruction. The following day

JEFFERSON COLLEGE

Its great rival, out of over 500 matriculates graduated a class of 116. This college was founded in 1825 and is just entering upon the second half century of its existence. The names of its Professors Biddle, Rand, Da Costa, and Old Gross, and Bill and Joe Pancoast, as the boys with rather irreverent affection call them, are its best credentials. Originally the two schools were located within one block of each other, and the rivalry between the two often resulted in clashes between their students, and before the war, when Southern students seem to have preponderated, their little fracases were often enlivened by the flourish of the dirk and revolver. Jefferson College claims to offer advantages superior even to those of Bellevue Hospital, though the rates of instruction are said to be somewhat less, being $140 for one course, which includes six months and an average of [illegible] lectures and clinics of 5 hours a week. This college took the lead of all in this country in the system of instructing by clinics, and this has doubtless contributed largely in bringing its thousands of students from all the States and Territories and from every civilized nation of the globe. Here the clinical advantages can hardly be rivaled, and those afflicted by almost every known disease are willing to come into the presence of the assembled students and lay aside all personal delicacy for the sake of free treatment, and the dextrous surgeons and practitioners of the faculty with knife and anesthetics often succeed in turning off as many as a dozen patients in the course of an hour. Besides the advantages of these particular clinics there are here nineteen hospitals and nearly fifty other charitable institutions, all affording to students the most excellent facilities for the practical study of disease and injury. Among these is the Old Pennsylvania hospital, in the very heart of the city, which since its foundation has given shelter to nearly 100,000 patients, and of convenient access is Blockley almshouse, near the university, consisting of four buildings, each 500 feet in length and three stories in height, and having an average of [illegible] inmates the year round. [illegible]

[illegible] a further reference to the women's Col-lege, the Homeopathic School, or the Philadelphia College of Surgery and Medicine, known to quacks and infamy as an institution where medical diplomas can be bought for a song and without examination, and affectionately referred to by the regular profession here as "Paine's nest of buzzards." The questionable sale of diplomas by [illegible] is said to have been the occasion of a friendly little note from District [illegible] [illegible] good purpose in this [illegible].

CENTENNIAL MATTERS

Are progressing smoothly. Every Sunday the people throng out to the park as if to take a quiet look at the [illegible] buildings and assure themselves that they are really to be a national [illegible] the coming summer. Last Sunday the crowd there was so large that the [illegible] who usually attend an Oregon State Fair might have easily become lost among them, and the numbers of visitors is said to increase at the rate of ten per cent every succeeding Sunday. Colonel Forney arrived home a few days ago after a two years' visit in Europe, during which time he has been of incalculable service to the centennial cause. On the occasion of his lecture at the Academy of Music on Wednesday last, upon his work in Europe, he was greeted with a most enthusiastic ovation. His account as to the interest taken in the cause on the continent of Europe was most encouraging. Would it be improper to inquire what Oregon will do? Her delegation gave a solid vote for the government appropriation of $1,500,000, and will her people ratify that vote, and by some organized effort second the efforts of Commissioner Dufur and secure her share of the benefit to result from that appropriation? She has now an opportunity to advertise in an economical way, and the profound ignorance here as to her resources is sufficient to indicate the necessity of such a movement. There is absolutely nothing here to remind a Webfoot of home, unless we except the American flag and his weekly Chinese laundry check, which is a fac simile of those you get at the Alder street establishments. It may be reasonably doubted whether the name Oregon appears a score of times in any of the leading dailies of the city in the course of the whole year. The word Oregon conveys to the average Eastern mind a confused idea of Indians, wild beasts and tall timber. You announce yourself as from the Pacific Coast and are greeted by the inquiry as to what part of California you hail from. At the suggestion that Oregon is your home, the inquirer may be forced to acknowledge that he has read of such a place either in "Thanatopsis," or Irving's "Astoria," or Cornell's geography, but the chances are that he will stare at you in blank astonishment, confess his entire ignorance and beg you to locate the place on the map. Can't you contribute the model of a log cabin for the Exposition? It would be emblematic of the idea the great majority have of the State. This ignorance naturally results from our want of enterprise and is entirely excusable, and perhaps the shock which it gives to our conceit may prove beneficial after. If we had only followed the course pursued by Kansas, Minnesota and Nebraska, who started long after us in the race, instead of adopting that penny-wise, pound foolish policy miscalled economy, we might have better reason to become indignant when the mention of Oregon is greeted with a vacant stare or a scratch of the head as if to revive a fading knowledge of geography. To illustrate, the Woman's Centennial Executive Committee, which is doing one of the grandest works in connection with the Exposition, has members from every quarter of the Union, including Utah, California, Montana, Dakota, Arizona and Idaho, but none from Oregon or Washington. Then you may visit the Philadelphia Mercantile Library—in one of the finest buildings of the kind in America—and emphatically cosmopolitan in its character, in every way a credit to this great city, and though they have a library of 115,000 volumes and over 500 periodicals and newspapers from all quarters and in several different languages, and boast of receiving newspapers from 46 States and Territories, you will look in vain for one from Oregon. Idaho, Arizona, Dakota, Montana, New Mexico and Nevada are represented, and even the homesick Alaskan will find on the files the Alaska Herald, and many there imbibe the latest intelligence from Sitka, but the poor Webfoot, hungry for home news, must content himself with an occasional Oregon letter in the Alta or Record Union, or make the most of their meager half column, headed "Oregon Items" or "News from the Northwest." Even the railroad advertisements ignore us. The circular of the C. P. R. R. and Pacific R. R. announces its connections through to Sacramento and San Francisco and all points in the territories, and then—as an afterthought—also to China, Japan and Oregon—the last on the list. These items all bear upon one point and furnish their own commentaries.

A very amiable and extremely handsome young fellow was honored with a request to attend a fancy ball. He consulted a cousin of his as to his costume on the occasion. "Go as the Black Prince, dear Fontaine," said she. "You will look so lovely in armor." "Oh, hang it, Polly, though, I shouldn't like to black my face," was the ingenuous reply.

A Waterville girl worked the motto, "I need thee every hour," and presented it to her chap. He says he can't help it. It takes him two hours to milk and feed the pigs, morning and night, and business has got to be attended to.

WEDNESDAY MORNING MARCH [illegible]

THE [illegible]

Ord[illegible] [illegible] all parties who should be disposed to treat [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Democracy [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the parties immediately concerned in the matter [illegible] the documents which we publish [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the statement of Mr. Jackson and Mr. Dearborn [illegible] [illegible] speak only of the condition of the Penitentiary accounts and the relationship or the absence of any relationship between Superintendent Watkinds and the [illegible] [illegible] at the time of writing the certificates, a circumstance which certainly gives color to the assertion of Mr. Myers that things have been fixed up to meet the emergency. We do not wish to be understood as expressing an opinion one way or the other upon the matter, but merely that there is room for the inference which Mr. Myers states as the correct one. With these preliminary remarks, and hoping the brethren may yet be able to come to such an understanding among themselves by mutual concessions or otherwise, as will make everything lovely in the Democratic camp and keep the people from getting any information as to what the Democratic ring are doing with the people's money, we present the documents:

SALEM, March 27, 1876.

To the people of Oregon: Having received the following note with the accompanying statements from W. H. Watkinds, Superintendent of the Oregon State Prison, I desire to give them to the public, with my own statement, for your own good sense and disposal.

H. C. Myers, Salem, Oregon—SIR: I have been informed that you have circulated reports that I was interested in the boot and shoe business of Walter Jackson & Co. at the penitentiary, and also that a contract existed between Jackson and myself that I was to put more money into the business after the adjournment of the legislature of 1876 and become an equal partner in the same. Also that you have stated that the number of days charged up against the firm of Jackson & Co. were incorrect, and did not compare with your quarterly report. By the inclosed statements of W. Jackson and R. H. Dearborn, clerk of the penitentiary, you will see that these charges you have made against me are false, and I demand that you retract the same through one of the daily papers of the city. The charges I have made against you as Warden of the Oregon Penitentiary are on file in the governor's office, as also in the office of the superintendent of the penitentiary, subject to your inspection. Yours respectfully,

W. H. WATKINDS.

I hereby state there exists no contract whatever between me or between Walter Jackson & Co., verbal or written, by which W. H. Watkinds is in any way connected with or in the boot and shoe business at the penitentiary, nor has said Watkinds received a dollar benefit in any way from said boot and shoe business since I have been connected with it.

WALTER JACKSON.

SALEM, Oregon, March 25, 1876.

This is to certify that Messrs. Walter Jackson & Co. are charged on the books of the Oregon State Penitentiary with the amount of time for labor of convicts as appears in the report of the Warden, Mr. H. C. Myers, namely, six hundred and ninety-one (691) days at 50 cents per day for the quarter ending February 29, 1876.

R. H. DEARBORN, Clerk.

Penitentiary Report

Below we give the report of the Superintendent of the State Penitentiary for the quarter ending February 29, 1876:

EXPENDITURES
By vouchers issued	$1 064 19
EARNINGS
For keeping U. S. prisoners for the quarter	[illegible]
For convict labor furnished to Walter Jackson & Co. 171 days at 50 cents per day	[illegible]
Dr. A. J. Brown	[illegible]
Wood [illegible] Jackson & Co.	[illegible]
Board of employes of Jackson	[illegible]
Sundries [illegible]	$1 [illegible]
For carpenter work of convicts on new tannery, a permanent improvement, 112 days at $ [illegible] per day	[illegible]
For ordinary convict labor 1 [illegible] days at 50 cents per day	[illegible]
For lumber, nails, etc., paid for by vouchers for same	388 [illegible]
Improvement of property	$ [illegible]
Total earnings	[illegible]
Excess of expenses over earnings	[illegible]
Balance appropriation on hand	$11 [illegible]

Now you will please examine the superintendent's report published in the Mercury, Statesman, Standard and OREGONIAN for the quarter ending February 29, 1876, and you will find Walter Jackson & Co. were charged with 171 days instead of 691. Well, now is this? Simply, said superintendent finds that he is about to be caught up and [illegible] [illegible] the balance charged up several days after settling with Jackson & Co. Now this gentleman, with his boot and shoe business [illegible] [illegible] Watkinds finds that he is about to be exposed in his speculation, he gets some one to take [illegible] [illegible] and then goes for a certificate stating that he has no interest. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] boots and shoes with W. H. Watkinds [illegible] the company. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the statute reads [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] labor is employed.

[illegible] [illegible] Oregon to read [illegible] [illegible] from the very best men of the country [illegible] Will you have it? This is the right.

H. C. MYERS.

FARMING PROSPECTS

The farmers of the Willamette valley [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the dry weather [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the warm weather [illegible] forward the grass [illegible] quite as forward [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] likely to produce heavy crops [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] weeks of this weather just now would be worth a million dollars to this valley. The situation is becoming serious, but it is entirely too early to despair. The rain which is pouring down in torrents while we write may cease to-morrow or a week hence, and there will still be time for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] No day [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the plow should be in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] push things.

[illegible]

It would hardly be expected that the literary efforts of an officer of the army would turn in the direction of a treatise on Parliamentary Law, but such a work has just been produced by Major Henry M. Robert, of the engineer corps, now stationed at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and from a somewhat careful examination of the book, a copy of which has been placed on our table by J. K. Gill & Co., booksellers of this city, we are prepared to pronounce it a very thorough work. It embraces within a small compass all the rules and principles governing the proceedings of deliberative bodies. The rules of the National House of Representatives are the basis of the work, but the author has taken pains to show in what particulars they are inapplicable to the various deliberative bodies of other sorts, and what is the true rule in each particular case. In order to bring the work within such compass as to make a convenient pocket manual, suitable for use in all public meetings, lodges, conventions, etc., a system of reference, backward and forward, to all sections bearing upon any given subject, has been adopted with admirable success. Of all the manuals of Parliamentary Law that have come under our notice—and they are numerous enough—we think this little work of Major Robert's the best.

MR. John Forster, biographer of Dickens, who recently died in London, has left the whole of his splendid library, his collection of manuscripts and autographs and the most of his paintings as a free gift to the English people. Among the books are the following, with autographic inscriptions: Addison's "Travels in Italy," with this inscription: "To Dr. Jonathan Swift, the most agreeable companion, the truest friend and the greatest genius of his age, this book is presented by his most humble servant the author." Going on, we find Byron's own copy of "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers," given by him to Leigh Hunt, with Byron's autograph, and many corrections made by him; the original edition of "Robinson Crusoe"; "The Dunciad," with this autograph: "Jonath. Swift 1729. Amicissimi Auctoris Donum"; Pope's Works, with another autograph: "To the Right Honourable Earl of Oxford from his most obedient humble servant, A. Pope," and the first and second folio Shakespeare.

The Chicago Times has a Washington dispatch purporting to explain the conduct of Hallet Kilbourn in refusing to give to the Congressional committee the names of his associates in the real estate ring in the District of Columbia, or to allow an inspection of his books. This dispatch says the ring was composed of Senator Sargent and two or three other Senators whose names are not given, Aldrich and some three or four other politicians of the Democratic side, Kilbourn and Boss Shepherd, and that Kilbourn's books would show that fact, and the profits made by each. Kilbourn was the broker of the ring. He is now in prison for contumacy, but he remains firm in his refusal to peach on his pals. He cannot be imprisoned by the House beyond the current session, and may hold out to the end unless the proceedings in the criminal court shall force him to the required disclosure. It is to be hoped, for the sake of the country at large, that this dispatch is incorrect.

Mr. Schenck has at last addressed himself to the accomplishment of the difficult task of persuading the sub-committee of the Committee on Judiciary, and through them the public at large, that his connection with the Emma mine stock business in England was a proper one. He prefaces his explanation with a document of some length, which, being interpreted, signifies that he desires to have counsel appear for him. This reasonable request was acceded to, and Mr. Schenck proceeded to show his hand. After he shall have set forth all he has to say as to the real and the alleged facts, he will wind up with a put[illegible] the [illegible] pleading of the baby act, and will strive to prove himself a fool to avoid being held as a knave.

The Republican Senators who voted against the admission of Pinchback as U. S. Senator from Louisiana are Christiancy, Edmunds, Morrill of Maine, Morrill of Vermont, and Paddock of Nebraska. Wadleigh, Conover, and Dawes, who would have voted against his admission, were paired off with Alcorn, Oglesby and Cameron of Wisconsin. Of course Cameron of Pennsylvania, Dorsey, Morton, Mitchell and Spencer, and all that sort voted for his admission. There were also some very good men in favor of it.

It is customary with smokers to bite or cut off a small portion of their cigars before lighting them. The portions cut or bitten off are in this country thrown away as useless, but in Europe it is said a charitable institution for the maintenance of the poor of considerable size is wholly supported by the snuff made from these ends, which are carefully collected, ground up and sold.

Readers of Charles Reade's lively novel will be reminded by the telegraphic news of the Massachusetts freshets of the scene in "Put Yourself in His Place," in which a similar disaster caused by the breaking away of a mill dam is powerfully and vividly described.

DOUGLAS COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

In pursuance of a resolution adopted by the county central committee on the [illegible] day of March, 1876, the Republican primary meetings will be held at the usual place for voting in each precinct in Douglas county, Oregon, on Saturday, the 15th day of April, 1876, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing delegates to a county convention, to be held at [illegible] on [illegible], April [illegible], at 10 o'clock A. M., for the [illegible] county [illegible] [illegible] delegates to the State convention. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Myrtle Creek [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Elkton [illegible].

The county central committee, recognizing the importance of the primary meetings as the source of political power, and being desirous that the will of the people shall in all things be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Republicans and [illegible] in sympathy with Republican principles and all others who wish to join in the nomination and election of a county ticket of honest, faithful and competent men to take part in the primaries and choose delegates who have a common interest in the general welfare of the whole county, and who at the convention will have courage to oppose the pet schemes of corrupt cliques, rings and factions [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the people want [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the people and not plunder them, and who will [illegible] [illegible] make every effort in their power to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] influences [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] county. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] office-holders [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] politicians. A full and complete representation from each precinct is desired.

EUGENE CITY ITEMS

EUGENE CITY, March 28, 1876.

It is [illegible] that the G[illegible] will soon [illegible] hands. Some gentlemen from the Eastern States are the probable purchasers.

Efforts to revive the religious feeling have been in progress during the past week at the Christian Church. The ordinance of baptism was administered to one person Sunday evening.

Vivian and Kohler are announced to perform here Wednesday and Thursday. From their reputation as showmen they will undoubtedly be greeted by full houses.

A young gentleman whom for short we shall call Tobias, imbibed too much of the juice and tumbled into one of the water tanks that decorate our city front. He was, however, gallantly rescued from his perilous position, a boon companion pulling him forth by the leg.

A call has been put forth for a meeting of citizens to nominate candidates for the city election to be held next Monday. The call has been issued ostensibly in the cause of temperance and to select persons who will sustain recent laws of the council closing saloons on Sundays and prohibiting gambling. While we are temperance in principle we believe that it is impossible to license crime by halves, to authorize injustice at all, and then hope to regulate the measure of it. The Sunday law is one that cannot be sustained and enforced in this place, as is witnessed by the fact that all the saloons sell liquor via the back door the same as on other days. More liquor is drunk on Sundays now than before the passage of the law. I know whereof I speak.

The [illegible] of the OREGONIAN in attacking the corrupt and perfidious individuals who have so long controlled the destiny of the Republican party in this State for their own personal aggrandizement, has met with the warmest approval by members of all parties in this section. It is a disgrace to our fair young State that a person whose record is tainted with crime and iniquity should occupy the highest position within the gift of our people, and corrupt politics by his bold and unscrupulous measures. Let the public rise and by their votes rebuke the arrogant bigamist.

BURGLARY —Some time during Monday night the store of Messrs Everding & Farrell at the corner of Alder and Front streets was entered by burglars. An entrance was effected through the window in the rear of the building opening from the wharf. The burglars procured a small hatchet used in splitting kindling wood and easily pried open the money drawer and helped themselves to all the "bullion" they could find. However the light-fingered gentlemen made a "water haul" in the way of coin for they only obtained about $15 in quarters and dimes which had been left in the drawer over night. The first intimation the proprietors had yesterday morning that their premises had been invaded was the discovery that the window was raised and the money drawer broken open. The burglars operated just as if they were old hands at the bellows. Considering the opportunities afforded the thieves Messrs Everding & Farrell have reason to congratulate themselves on the fortunate termination of the thieves' little predatory excursion.

LARGE CARGO —The ship Ben Rhydding which has just cleared for Liverpool with a wheat cargo carried away the largest cargo which has ever gone down the Willamette in one vessel. Her full quantity was 1,904 tons and of which only about 100 tons was lightered to Astoria. The Rhydding took from Portland 1,800 tons, and left here drawing 18 feet. She reached Astoria easily, and is now ready for sea. For adaptation to this trade as well as general seaworthiness, but few if any vessels have entered this port which excelled the Ben Rhydding. She is under charter to Rodgers, Meyer & Co and her cargo was furnished by Messrs Allen & Lewis, who have given her good dispatch. So far this season vessels have had much less difficulty than formerly in getting down the river with large cargoes but none we believe have taken on quite as much at the Portland docks as the Ben Rhydding.

COLONISTS COMING —From the evening contemporary it is learned that Mr Jos Buchtel has lately received from Arkansas, a letter stating that quite a colony of families are about to attempt a trip across the plains to this State, bringing with them cattle and horses and farming utensils. The families are spoken of as an intelligent class of people and will doubtless form a valuable acquisition to our population. In addition to the above, a letter received at this office from Scranton Kansas, states that a gentleman named G W Smith accompanied by a number of his neighbors will leave the grasshopper State for Oregon during the coming summer. He writes for information concerning this State and the board of Immigration will certainly do some good by sending to his address such pamphlets as it may have at its disposal.

JUDGE DEADY'S LECTURE.—This evening our public will be favored with an intellectual treat in the lecture to be delivered at the Y M C A rooms, by Judge M P Deady. The lecturer has chosen for his subject, "Trial by Jury"—a topic possessing peculiar interest and one which is attracting much thought and attention throughout the whole country at the present time. As a profound thinker and able speaker Judge Deady has few equals on the Pacific coast, and his forthcoming effort gives promise of being interesting and instructive to the highest degree. His popularity as a lecturer will no doubt secure a crowded house. There will be some very entertaining music prior to the lecture and at its close. Admission only fifty cents. This will be the sixth lecture of the course delivered before the association this season.

PROFESSOR CHANGE.—We are informed that a certain showman, who was arrested at Astoria under the name of Prof. Jacobs, some time since, on the charge of "obtaining money under false pretenses" from Hon Sam Corwin, of Tillamook, by inducing the latter to go into partnership with him in giving "spiritual seances," but discharged for insufficiency of testimony, is now entertaining the orthodox people of Washington county with an expose of spiritualism, and of the various rope-tying and juggling feats which at Astoria were claimed to be performed by the aid of the spirits. The Professor, as other notables of this State have done before him, is running under another name now, viz, Prof Baldwin.

COMMERCIAL GAZETTEER —Mr S B Curtis is canvassing for a work which will be very useful for reference, in every sort of business. It is a gazetteer or geographical cyclopedia of all the States, Territories, counties, cities, townships, villages, postoffices, mountains, rivers, lakes, etc, in the American Union, showing the growth and general industrial and political status of the Republic, all compiled from the most recent official and other authentic reports. It is a large and handsome volume of over 1,000 pages royal octavo, and will be of invaluable assistance in [illegible] the geographical references in the current literature of the day.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE THOS A SAVIER —A telegraphic dispatch was received here yesterday from San Francisco, which stated that Mrs Thos A Savier, and family had arrived safely in that city from Michigan. It was expected to bring the remains of the late Thos A Savier to Portland for interment, and for that reason the body was kept in San Francisco until the arrival of Mrs Savier. Since reaching there, it has been determined by the bereaved widow to have the remains of her husband buried in Lone Mountain Cemetery. To-day the funeral will take place from Dr [illegible] Church, in San Francisco.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION —The exhibition which came off last Saturday evening, March 25th, at the close of the term of Miss Hattie Stone, at the school house in Middleton, Washington county, proved a very pleasant affair. All the pupils acquitted themselves with much credit. The recitations, songs, dialogues and tableaux were very good, and afforded those present much pleasure. The music—both vocal and instrumental—furnished on the occasion by Mr Henry Bouls, Miss Hattie Stone and others, was quite creditable, and the whole affair passed off to the satisfaction of teacher, pupils, parents and spectators.

OFFICE CLOSED —Actual possession was taken of the Portland office of the Nevada and Northern Division of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company Monday by Constable Perry, he having had nominal possession of the office for some days past. At present the office is locked up, and the furniture will probably be sold before long at constable sale to satisfy the judgment held against the company.

UMATILLA NOTES

Our correspondent at Umatilla writes us as follows under date of 26th:

The wind has been blowing briskly [illegible] the past three days.

Plenty of nice beef in the country now as well as stock cattle.

The Umatilla river is high [illegible] of which trade is light here at present.

The OREGONIAN is a great favorite here and you may anticipate an increased list this spring.

Three hundred and twenty [illegible] were shipped from this [illegible] last week [illegible] by Mr Jackson.

[illegible] Lodge No. [illegible] building a new hall 24x40 feet, the building to be two stories high. The lower floor will be fitted up for business purposes.

BUSINESS NOTICES

The Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Co are doing a rushing business. Consult their announcement.

The Standard Shirt manufactured by [illegible] Bros, San Francisco, is spoken of very highly by those who have worn them. These shirts can be obtained of dealers in this city and through the country. Ask for them.

CITY LICENSE CASE DECIDED.

In the case of the City of Portland vs Wm Love involving the validity of the ordinance passed by the common council imposing a license on milkmen and others distributing the products of their farm within the city limits, judgment was rendered in the State circuit court yesterday in favor of the defendant declaring the defendant not guilty and rendering judgment against the city for costs and disbursements. It was held by the court:

First. That the license tax upon a wagon used [illegible] belonging to the city and incorporated with the property within the city is not authorized by the charter of the city of Portland and being thus a tax upon parties outside of the city for the benefit of those living within the city is virtually taking the property of citizens for the use of a particular community of which such are not citizens, formed no part and is therefore void.

Second. That defendant is not within the provisions of the ordinance in question. The general term "any person" in the latter clause of Sec 2 of the ordinance does not enlarge the scope of the first part of the section and the particular description of the first part limits and controls the general words in the latter part. Furthermore the general intent of the ordinance is to be gathered from the proviso of the section which exempts from the payment of peddlers license farmers or persons peddling the products of their own farms, gardens or milk ranches.

One of the principal points urged upon the consideration of the court by the counsel for the plaintiff during the argument of the case was the fact that the city fathers were induced to pass the ordinance because they very properly thought that milkmen, wood haulers, vegetable venders &c who came frequently into the city and helped to wear out the streets ought to be compelled to contribute something to keeping these thoroughfares in repair. In announcing his decision Judge Shattuck remarked that while it might be a good thing to encourage the growth of grass on our streets (as the passage and enforcement of the license ordinance would certainly have a tendency to do by keeping country people away) he thought that the city fathers had no such intention in making the law. The case will no doubt be carried to the supreme court.

The American Exchange building is receiving a new roof of shingles to keep out the rain.

Remember the lecture this evening at the Y M C A rooms by Judge Deady. Subject—"Trial by Jury."

This evening an entertainment will be given at Odd Fellows Hall, East Portland, under the auspices of the ladies connected with the M E church of that place.

We have always labored under the impression that horsemen were as a class heartless fellows. Yesterday however we discovered our error on finding a certain well known horseman and livery stable keeper not far from Stark and Second streets reading in the news columns of the OREGONIAN the announcement of the death of old Hambletonian, with large tears rolling down his cheeks.

Referring to the erection of a new theater in Virginia City for Maguire the Gold Hill News of that place says: "A number of gentlemen in Virginia have signified their intention of taking stock in the concern all the way from $100 to $5,000. With such encouragement combined with the energetic consideration of Mr Sheridan Corbyn, Maguire's business manager, the new theater will probably in a short time become an accomplished fact." That looks as if Corbyn was not coming this way soon at all events.

FIRE IN EAST PORTLAND

About half past twelve o'clock last night a fire broke out in the building occupied by [illegible] as a saloon on the corner of I and Water streets and in a few minutes the entire building was a sheet of flame. The alarm was struck by policeman [illegible] from box 11 and engines Nos 2 and 3 crossed on the ferry and were in service on quick time [illegible]

EARLY JOURNALISM IN OREGON.

Mr Geo H Himes now has in his possession two bound volumes of the Star and Times published respectively at Milwaukie and Portland during the years 1850 and 1854. These bound files contain the unbroken numbers of the paper for a period of four years. Although Oregon journalism was at that time in a crude and primitive condition the typographical appearance of the paper will not compare unfavorably with publications of a much more recent date, and the binding is not discreditable to the book binder's art. These files have for many years been the property of our old friend Mr John Orvis Waterman, one of the old pioneer printers, publishers and editors of Oregon, who was at length induced to dispose of them to Mr Himes, the latter gentleman wishing to preserve them as relics of early journalism in Oregon. To Mr Waterman we are indebted for the following succinct history of the paper the numbers of which are included in the two volumes.

Capt Lot Whitcomb, one of the old pioneers of the State, who died at Milwaukie in the year 1857, concluded to establish a paper at that place in the year 1850. The new journal was called the Western Star and the initial number was issued on the 21st day of November 1850. Lot Whitcomb the owner and substantial man of the concern issued a prospectus of which the following is the opening clause: "The undersigned informs the public that he has commenced the publication of a weekly newspaper of the above title (Star) at Milwaukie, Oregon Territory. Having procured material and engaged men for the purpose exclusively he flatters himself that he can furnish the citizens of Oregon with a paper not inferior to any public journal of the day." It was announced that Lot Whitcomb was publisher, Messrs Carter & Waterman printers, and John Orvis Waterman editor. Under this management the Star was run for about three months when it changed hands by Captain Whitcomb disposing of his entire interest to Carter & Waterman on the 27th of February 1851. These gentlemen continued the publication of the Star at Milwaukie up to the 29th of May 1851, when the paper was removed to this city, then a small village. With the change of location a change of name followed and the Star was metamorphosed into the Times. The copartnership of Waterman & Carter continued up to June 1853, when Waterman purchased out Carter's interest and conducted the paper as editor and publisher until June 3 1854. Mr Waterman then disposed of his interest in the Times to Wm D Carter and R D Austin. However he continued to act in the capacity of editor for nearly three years subsequent to that date. Some time after that Mr Austin bought out Carter's interest and continued the owner and publisher of the Times until its demise, which followed in the spring of 1861.

There is one circumstance connected with the earlier history of the Times which is worthy of special mention. The first number of the Star was issued on the 21st of November 1850 and the initial number of the WEEKLY OREGONIAN—now over a quarter of a century old—was issued December 4 1850, about two weeks after the Star. In the editorial column of the Star of December 12, 1850, we observed the following complimentary notice of this paper:

"We have received the first number of the OREGONIAN published in Portland—T J Dryer, editor and proprietor. It is well got up and the matter of the first sheet is interesting and such as we expected from a gentleman of Mr Dryer's reputation as an editor. Although it differs from us in politics—taking the Whig side—we nevertheless are pleased to welcome its appearance in our new Territory. Mr Dryer has our best wishes for success in his enterprise and we assure him that it is our wish to cultivate a friendly feeling in all time to come between our cotemporaries."

POLICE COURT NOTES.

Jim Turk was arrested yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct by fighting, and will have a trial this morning.

Yesterday morning the case of State vs Joe Lafferty, was called up for examination. Defendant was arrested Sunday evening on complaint of Ben Wood charged with committing an aggravated assault on the person of complainant. There being an insufficiency of evidence, the court discharged Lafferty.

Mrs Kate Turk, an old offender and honorary member of the shipping brigade, sipped too deeply of grape-juice and found herself behind bars—iron bars. Her case was continued until this morning. Kate is a "full team" when she gets to tampering with gin and tansy and generally fetches up at Lappeus' hotel.

Reed was declared to be a "gentleman of leisure" by the court and consigned to prison diet for five days. Had he chosen a feather bed on which to repose his wearied frame his "leisure" might have been regarded as of an elegant character from a judicial standpoint, but as he slept in a gutter, he was called a "vag" by way of brevity.

That popular clothier Jos Kohn has at last returned and together with his clerks was busy yesterday opening a large and handsome assortment of clothing such as must certainly meet with favor. Mr Kohn has spared neither time or expense to select the very best and latest goods in his line. He is to be congratulated upon his success and may the emporium over which he presides be thronged with customers from this time henceforth.

DISTRICT COURT AT VANCOUVER.

On Saturday the court pronounced judgment against M Healey, Mat Brown, E J Sipe, John L Francis and James Shea for selling liquor to minors. All but Shea were sentenced to pay a fine of $20 each and costs, be imprisoned one hour and have their licenses revoked. In consideration of the fact that Shea's license had just been renewed his fine was fixed at $5.

The grand jury has returned indictments against Lawrence S Lyons and James Kelly, two soldiers, for engaging in an affray. The court denied their motion for a separate trial and continued the case until Tuesday morning. Yesterday the grand jury found indictments against Lawrence S Lyons and Sergeant Cox for an affray.

The trial of Lyons and Kelly came off this morning. A large attendance was in court including a number of soldiers and Capt Lane. The defense was divided, J M Fletcher appearing for defendant Kelly, and John Cruikshank for defendant Lyons. Between the cross fight of the defendants there was not much left for the prosecution to do. The jury after being charged by the court retired.

The trial of Lyons and Cox will probably come off this afternoon. The grand jury after reporting that all the public offices and buildings were in splendid order, were discharged at 10 A M.

Court will probably adjourn to-morrow or next day, when without doubt the jail will not be quite so much empty as it was a few days ago, and an evidence that the morals of the people of both city and county are improving.

There is a land, of every land the pride,
Beloved by Heaven o'er all the world beside;
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Views not a realm so bountiful and fair,
Nor breathes the spirit of a purer air;
In every clime the magnet of his soul,
Touched by remembrance, trembles to that pole;
For in this land of Heaven's peculiar grace,
The heritage of nature's noblest race,
There is a spot of earth supremely blest,
A dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest,
Where man, creation's tyrant, casts aside
His sword and sceptre, pageantry and pride,
While in his softened looks benignly blend
The sire, the son, the husband, brother, friend:
Here woman reigns; the mother, daughter, wife,
Strews with fresh flowers the narrow way of life;
In the clear heaven of her delightful eye,
An angel-guard of loves and graces lie;
Around her knees domestic duties meet,
And fireside pleasures gambol at her feet.
Where shall that land, that spot of earth be found?
Art thou a man?—a patriot?—look around;
Oh, thou shalt find, where'er thy footsteps roam,
That land thy country, and that spot thy home

TILLAMOOK

ITS PRODUCTIONS AND PRODUCTIVE CAPACITY

TILLAMOOK, March 22 1876

To the Editor of the Oregonian

Agreeably to promise, I now propose giving you an account of some of the productions of Tillamook county which annually find their way to Astoria and Portland and the manner by which our exports might with labor and a comparatively small amount of capital be increased to the sum of $75 000 or $100 000 annually, the direct product of the soil

In the article of butter we usually send to market from 25 to 30 tons, beef cattle from 300 to 400 head timothy seed from 400 to 600 bushels, beef hides, from 200 to 300 elk hides, from 100 to 150, elk horns, about 100 pairs, white spruce stave bolts, from 100 to 150 cords, and some cedar lumber, but the amount I am unable to ascertain We send to market a considerable amount of furs, such as seal and land otters, mink beaver, bear, and fisher—also feathers

Tillamook butter made at our best dairies cannot be excelled on the Pacific coast this is owing to the climate and nutritiousness of the grasses Portland hotel keepers usually give three to five cents more per pound for choice Tillamook butter than for any other brought to market To show your readers what a small dairy of 15 cows will give in one season—the pasture being mostly tide land grass, the writer will yield you a true statement of a conversation had a few days since with Mr. Peter Morgan, one of our best butter makers, Mr Morgan milked 15 cows last season from the 1st of May until the 12th of October and the product was 800 pounds of cheese and 1,650 pounds of butter, and fattened five hogs entirely with milk, which, when slaughtered, weighed from 250 to 300 pounds each The account sales of Mr. Morgan's butter for the past season show 30 and 33 cents per pound His cheese brought 15 cents per pound and his hogs 6 cents per pound, dressed

Hoquarton prairie, on which is situated the town of Tillamook, the county seat, is nearly 4½ miles in length and 2½ miles in width, open, clear land, fenced off into farms, well watered, and more or less under improvement It is all, or nearly all capable of being plowed or "seeded down" If this prairie should be parcelled out into convenient dairies and properly managed it would yield a sufficient number of pounds of butter annually at 25 cents per pound, to amount to the sum of $30 000 Now this statement is susceptible of demonstration and bear in mind, this refers only to one of our prairies We have also Long prairie, and Nestockten or South prairie, to which add Nestucker, The bay precinct and Nehalem Put these places into dairies, properly and economically managed, and at a fair and moderate estimate they would yield annually $75 000

Some parts of our county are well adapted to the raising of sheep but no one as yet has gone into the business extensively although there are several flocks here the largest of which is 1 100 and owned by Mr R W Wilson formerly of Salem Wheat, oats and barley do well here Wheat averages from 30 to 50 bushels per acre oats and barley 75 to 100 bushels per acre Mr B P Hutchings merchant at this place informs me that he made a trial of raising flaxseed last season with a view of ascertaining whether our climate is adapted to it and succeeded in raising at the rate of forty seven bushels per acre of a superior quality I am informed that Mr R. W. Wilson contemplates sowing some 50 or 60 acres the approaching season. Apples, pears prunes plums, cherries, strawberries and raspberries do remarkably well here some of which are cultivated to a considerable extent the soil and climate being adapted to them.

In my next I will endeavor to demonstrate that there is a splendid opening here for a live go-ahead energetic business man of moderate capital, who will erect a steam sawmill capable of turning out fifteen or twenty thousand feet of lumber daily and form a connection with San Francisco by means of a proper sailing vessel to find a market for our fir, spruce and alder lumber,

[illegible] long ago more silver had been produced than could be found in circulation [illegible] globe [illegible] In the [illegible] change are the greatest [illegible] silver and gold [illegible] the greater portion of the world's supply. It is estimated that [illegible] gold and silver has been produced but no such an amount is [illegible] in circulation in the civilized world. Not more than $5 000 000 000 can be traced in the banks of the countries which use gold and silver as currency that is to say England, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium. [illegible] there is more in these countries than appears in daily use. There is a large sum hoarded by the people and another large amount used up in the arts. If $3 000 000 000 be set down as the total the mark will be more over than under shot. If $2 000 000 000 be assigned to the remaining countries of Europe and this continent we will have a grand total of only $1 000 000 000. Where the balance—the enormous sum of $10 600 000 000 has gone is not a matter of conjecture. China and Japan are the greatest hoarders of the precious metals for the reason that they produce staples that other countries must have and buy little in return

General Trade

Circles are not agitated by any [illegible] movement. The demand for domestic produce is quite as active as usual at this season of the year and shippers are busy. The receipts of wheat and flour are unusually large but as vessels arrive one at a time they have fair dispatch. Coast freights however are at present against our port and while the receipts of merchandise are largely from San Francisco shipments to that market hence are not correspondingly increased. The stocks of agricultural machinery and implements on hand are quite full and dealers are realizing a fair trade. Dry goods are still ruling low and prices in nearly all articles in this line favor buyers, heavy stocks in the East having run down values to the lowest figure, and a revival of this branch of trade would do much to relieve the general depression in other departments. Groceries are also in fair supply with most of our jobbing and wholesale houses and "all along the line" there is a firm belief in a brisk trade during the spring months. Orders of considerable magnitude are already at hand and buyers find the market more under the control of sellers in this department than any other

There has been a great deal of complaint of late in regard to the way in which the sugar trade is manipulated on this coast by the San Francisco refineries and we note the fact that they have again advanced the price of all refined sugars ½c per pound which will produce a corresponding rise in prices here. These fluctuations while adverse to the interests of both consumers and dealers are doubtless made to subserve those of the refineries and are brought about in a sort of an arbitrary way without much regard to the law of supply and demand.

The Wheat Market and Exports,

There has been a little more animation in this department than has prevailed before for some time and some important purchases have been made during the past two or three days. About 20 000 bushels were sold on Monday at 90c per bushel in the warehouse at Independence. This would be about $1 70 per cental which is 5c higher than most exporters are willing to pay for average lots. This transaction is not regarded here as fixing prices, being rather above the rates which the present freights and Liverpool prices will justify. The exports so far during the harvest year have reached about 102 800 tons rather less than we had supposed before calculation and leaving the belief that in the interior a good deal is yet in the farmers granaries. The vessels now at hand and loading will raise the aggregate exports for the season to about 110 000 tons. Unless all the estimates of the surplus were too low there will yet be 25 000 tons in the state over the needs for home consumption after the vessels now here have cleared. Twenty one ships have cleared since the 1st of January and two more—the Samuel Watts and Dunnottar Castle—are nearly finished making 23 vessels in the three months against 12 vessels in the corresponding time last year. There were 10 vessels cleared after April 1st last year. The exports so far this harvest year have about equalled the total exports of the harvest of 1874

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Mattie Macleay will load partially with stave bolts on the Columbia and go to Seattle to finish with coal for Honolulu

The bark Strathedon and the ships Trojan and Ben Lhydding have cleared with wheat for England

The American ship Ann Millicent will begin to load wheat to morrow, and will have reasonably quick dispatch

The ship Hindostan will finish loading in a day or two

The bark W H Thorndyke under charter to the Salem Flouring Mills Co will begin to load wheat to-morrow

The bark Portland from San Francisco has arrived in the river and is discharging some freight at Clifton. She will probably arrive at this port in a day or two

PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER.

AS A PROOF OF WHAT I HAVE HERETOFORE stated to the people of Oregon I give below a letter from the Plummer Fruit Drying Co of East Portland After the close of business of 1875 fully endorsing it after using it one entire season and as a proof to substantiate what they say they now contemplate putting up another Dryer of the same capacity of the one they now have which will increase their capacity to five hundred bushels of apples per day Having now located here in Portland for the purpose of supplying the demand for Fruit Dryers in Oregon and Washington Territory I can supply these dryers at a cost of from $1 000 to $3,000 according to capacity Warranted to dry from 1 to 20 bushels of apples per hour at a small cost for labor and fuel. These machines being so cheap and simple in construction they cannot fail to supersede all other known machines I would also say to the fruit growers that I have invented a Machine (and am now waiting for a patent), that will cut and spread the fruit on the trays with a very small amount of labor I also have invented a Peach Parer that is on an entirely new principle paring soft as well as hard does its work well with great speed and slices and pits the fruit ready for the Dryer in the best possible manner, and at a great saving in quantity of fruit

Having become somewhat acquainted with the wants of the people I find that a cheap DRYER is what is wanted and one that will do good work and a large amount of it I have so modified my Dryer as to meet that demand and can now guarantee my CHEAP DRYER to do as good work as any and as large an amount of it, and the price is within the reach of all

FRUIT DRYER TESTIMONIALS.

EAST PORTLAND, Jan 4th 1876

MR W. S PLUMMER—Dear Sir As this is a time when all are much interested in Fruit Drying we think that in justice to you and for the information of the public it is but right and proper that we should give all the information that we can Now after having operated your Dryer during this season we feel warranted in saying that for the amount of money invested we still believe as we did from the start that your Dryer is the best Dryer yet introduced into this country The capacity of the Dryer we find to be about 8 (eight) bushels per hour The Dried fruit we claim to be as good as any though perhaps not as much bleached as the "Alden" Fruit and we are satisfied that we can produce Dried Fruit at less expense than the Alden" The stockholders of our Company manifest their confidence in the Plummer Dryer at our meeting last Saturday by a unanimous vote to increase the capital stock $12 000 (twelve thousand dollars) for the purpose of adding one more Dryer to the present one and making other improvements for next season We will further say that we believe that by an improvement made by the patentee in the Heater and Fan that there will be an increase of capacity and a saving of Fuel

H HANSON President,
J S NEWELL Secretary and Superintendent

EAST PORTLAND Dec 17, 1875

MR PLUMMER—Dear Sir I have been watching both the Alden and your Fruit Dryer the past season so as to determine which was the best Machine for drying Prunes I visited the Alden Dryer at Oregon City and examined the Prunes dried on that Machine and I have also examined several lots dried on your Machine at East Portland and my opinion is that your Dryer is far the best Machine for drying Prunes My reasons are these Your Machine dries them without bursting or cracking while I noticed that a great deal of the fruit dried on the Alden Machine was bursted open and after a Prune is bursted in drying it is worthless for market as a Prune therefore I can recommend your Machine for drying Prunes or anything else.

Yours truly
